POSITION TITLE: Mechanical Analysis and Test Intern

POSITION LOCATION: Poughkeepsie, NY

POSITION DESCRIPTION:
This intern position is for a mechanical engineering candidate for summer 2015 in the Shock/Vibration Development Compliance Department in IBM, Poughkeepsie, NY. The state of the art shock and vibration engineering laboratory in IBM Poughkeepsie supports the design, manufacture and failure analysis of computer hardware. The summer intern will have the opportunity to work on a range of mechanical analysis, mechanical test. Currently the laboratory is active in the area of mainframe hardware development and testing, with focus on Modal analysis.

DESIRED MAJORS: ME

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS:
- Bachelor's Degree
- Basic knowledge in mechanical engineering and design
- Basic knowledge in engineering principles
- English: Fluent
- Master’s Degree in Engineering preferred

HOW TO APPLY:
Interested students should send their résumé to careers@engr.unr.edu to be collected and sent to IBM.