

FBI

www.fbi.gov

---

POSITION TITLE: Computer Scientist – Field Ops

POSITION LOCATION: Nationwide

POSITION DESCRIPTION:

The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) is seeking a Computer Scientist to join the Field Ops program. The Computer Scientist performs basic system and network procurement, installation, administration, security, and assists others on more complex matters in adherence to established FBI policies and guidelines. Other duties include, but are not limited to:

- Using, troubleshooting, and modifying existing tools and methods to identify, isolate, preserve, and analyze digital data
- Assisting in the identification, vetting, and implementation of new tools and methods in adherence to established FBI policies and guidelines
- Developing and implementing basic custom tools and methods to identify, isolate, analyze, and preserve digital data
- Assisting in the development and use of basic computing environments for analysis
- Assisting others in the development and implementation of more advanced tools in adherence to established FBI policies and guidelines
- Providing technical and other professional assistance in conducting interviews, searches, and other investigative and operational activities
- Performing basic liaison and outreach and providing assistance for more extensive liaison and outreach
- Testifying in court
- Drafting documents on technical and other professional matters and assisting in drafting documents on advanced matters at the appropriate technical level
- Staying current with major new advances in relevant technology-related topics and providing guidance on tools and methods related to these advances at the local level
- Coordinating with the private sector and other divisions to resolve technical and other relevant issues

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS:

- Bachelor's degree in Computer Science or Bachelor's degree with thirty semester hours in a combination of mathematics, statistics, and computer science

HOW TO APPLY:

Interested applicants should apply online.